

Conrad Combrink Director of Expedition Planning and Strategic Development

Within months of Silversea's 2007 purchase of Silver Explorer, then Prince Albert II, Conrad Combrink was given the responsibility of creating and coordinating many of the important aspects of the ultra-luxury cruise line's new cruise programme, Silversea Expeditions.

In his position as Director of Expedition Planning and Strategic Development, his work encompasses both an active role aboard many Silversea Expeditions, as well as the strategic planning of all expedition itineraries, programme development, and overseeing expedition staff recruitment.

Before joining Silversea, Conrad had worked in worldwide cruise expedition programmes for more than a decade, including onboard Noble Caledonia's Island Sky and as an Expedition Leader on World Discover II – now one of Silversea's expedition vessels (Silver Explorer).

Conrad has an infectious passion for expedition travel that has taken him to all seven continents and some of the world's most remote destinations including Antarctica, the South Pacific, Russia's Far East, Alaska, North Atlantic, Indian Ocean, Arabian Gulf, Mediterranean and West and North Africa. He spends many months each year researching new destinations and loves travelling to less-frequented destinations to set up new and exciting adventures for Silversea guests.

Conrad holds a degree in tourism management and is a native of Cape Town, South Africa.
